Whelan Enns Associates Inc.

Started by Gaile Whelan Enns as a sole proprietorship in 1992, Whelan Enns Associates Inc. has grown to a firm with a dozen staff and contractors. We provide research and analysis services; web site design and maintenance; capacity building workshops; and project management. Technical services for lands planning, interviews, mapping, data analysis & historic research, have emerged as essential for our clients.

Tools of our work include: conservation biology and environmental assessment, consultation models, technical and licensing reviews, and public policy monitoring. Planning for protection and management of crown lands and waters, including land use plans, are central to our technical services.

Our team holds credentials and expertise in natural resource and species management; community forestry and forest ecology; website design; GIS & mapping and geography; hydro developments, research and writing, environmental assessment, technical reviews, plus project design and management.

We work with companies, industry associations, and communities in Ontario and Manitoba who share our passion for the future of lands and waters. Environmental concerns such as climate change and water quality also drive our work.

Currently we are involved in technical studies and services for several First Nations in Manitoba and Ontario.

Feel free to contact our offices in Winnipeg.
