Whelan Enns Associates Inc.

Started by Gaile Whelan Enns as a sole proprietorship in 1992, Whelan Enns Associates Inc. has grown to a firm with several staff, and contractors. We provide research and analysis services; web site design and maintenance; media services; and project management. Technical services for lands planning, mapping and data analysis & historic research, have emerged as essential for our clients.

Tools of our work include: conservation biology and environmental assessment, consultation models, technical reviews, and public policy monitoring. Planning for management of crown lands and waters, including land use plans are central to our technical work.

Our team holds credentials and expertise in natural resource and species management; community forestry and forest ecology; website design; GIS & mapping and geography; hydro developments, research and writing, environmental assessment, technical reviews, and project design and management.

We work with companies, industry associations, and communities who share our passion for the future of Manitoba's lands and waters. Environmental concerns such as climate change and water quality often drive our work for clients.

We design and maintain community and project websites. Please ask to see web site projects.

Currently we are involved in technical studies and services for several First Nations in Manitoba. Please feel free to contact our offices in Winnipeg.
